Two of the abolishing bills introduced in the senate struck a snag before the judiciary committee. Senator J. M. Foster, of Tuscaloosa, is chairman of this committee and the measure referred to are the ones which would abolish the state law enforcement department.

NEW TRIAL IN DIVORCE OF "DREAM CHILD'S" MOTHER

Mrs. John Russell, wife of Hon. John Hago Russell, son and heir of the rich and powerful Lord Amphill, former viceroy of India, faces a retrial of her husband's divorce suit, which resulted at first in her favor. Russell now charges alleged misconduct with a man named Mayer, who was not mentioned in the first suit. A strange feature of the case is that both Russell and his wife appear to be "unconscious" as to how their child wes born. Testimony at the trial tended to show that they had agreed the marriage should be platonic, and Russell swore he lived up to this agreement, denying paternity of the child. If his contention is upheld the 'Dream Baby" may be denied a share of the great Amphill fortune.

THE BLUE BACKED SPELLER OUT OF PRINT; BUT STILL UP-TO-DATE.

The last edition of the "Blue Backed Speller," is said to have been printed in 1866; if other editions in number, for the "Spellers" are very hard to called "The Lawrence County Times." find, in fact it is almost impossible to locate one now. Although the book is out of print, it has rk. There is hardly a good speller living, who ever used that ancient book, but who will give it great credit.

How else would one learn to spell "asafoetida," except in the "Blue Back?" And who knows the progressive character of "reasoning" with our fellowmen better as those who know the fable "over in the pictures" of the "Speller". The boy in the story, was up an apple tree, and was asked descend and to cease taking "that which does not belong to you". At first the man who reaed with the boy, spoke kind and entreating ds, and when they were of no avail, stronger ords were used. Later turf was thrown into the tinued to play his trade of stealing apples. At the last, the afore said man, gathered together a pile of stones and stoned the boy from the tree. The moral in the old "Speller" was: If gentle means and reason will not prevail, then force must be used". As if just in passing, the author of the wisdom and preachment. What he had to say out law making and law makers; has one or two of the characteristics of a classic-it is true and in very simple language-so that a child or a simple way-faring man could readily discern the Legislation is the enacting of laws, and a legislator is one who makes laws.

In free governments the people choose their legislators.

We have legislators for each state, who make laws for the state where they live. The town in which they meet to legislate is called the state of government. These legislators, when they are assembled to mke laws, are called the legislature.

The people should chose their best and wisest men for their legislators.

It is the duty of every good man to inspect the moral conduct of a man who is offered as a legislator at our elections. If the people wish for good laws they may have them by electing good men.

The legislative councils of the United States should feel their dependence on the will of a free and virtuous people.

Our farmers, mechanics and merchants compose the strength of our nation. Let them be wise and virtuous, and watchful of their liberties. Let them trust no man to legislate for them, if he lives in habitual violation of the laws of his country.

The quoted words of the "Speller" are timely because the truth is always timely. And now that a powerful, body of men is to meet Tuesday in Montgomery to make laws for the people of a great state, they could not find wiser council than found in the simple primary truths expressed by the author of the "Blue Back". Governor Brandon, himself, conceivably, could select less accept able sentiments, than those used by the ancient who wrote the old school speller.

THE WAGES OF DEFEAT.

In his New Haven address, Mr. Secretary The Philadelphia Public Ledger was interested with that part of the subject relating to Germany's ability to pay and the best manner of ascertaining how that ability may be properly discovered.

There will never be an agreement between Ford told him: France and Germany as to how much Germany is able to pay. Their respective interests in the mater are squarely opposed, and there is no friendship between them to serve as a foundation for an imicable and just compromise. The French want o collect every cent they can. The Germans do not want to pay a cent they can possibly avoid paying. It matters not what this debt may be; called, or what it is alleged to liquidate-to the Germans it is the wages they must pay for their own defeat. In their minds, it stands as a penalty, and it is human nature to avoid penalties as much as possible.

We can have little faith in any estimate of Gernany's ability to pay that comes from German or French sources. The Germans say they are acing national insolvency, and they cite as evilence of this assertion their depreciated currency. But this proves nothing. Any nation can take a winting press and debase its paper currency whenever it chooses. The value of a nation's paper curency is an indication of its financial intelligence, out is not a measure of its national wealth. If ill the paper money issued by Germany were gathred in a heap and totally destroyed, it would not iffect the real resources of Germany, which are he value of German land and property and the value of German labor and industry.

Germany did not suffer from the devastation of var as France suffered. She did not have the uined cities and hamlets to be rebuilt, the wasted ands to be salvaged, nor the plundering of an inading army to be restored. By the terms of leace, Germany was relieved of the burden of an irmy and navy. These things we do know, and cnowing them, we cannot believe any tale of Gernan insolvency.

On the other hand, we find abundant evidence to support the conclusion that France regards Gernan reparations as more of a French defense than a debt to be collected. The French seem to consider these claims as a means for keeping Ger-

Motor Car Dealers

This Year's Sales Prove Hupmobile One of the Biggest Money Makers

Dealers everywhere are demanding the agency for Hupmobile.

The tremendous increase in Hupmobile sales in the present year is responsible for this.

Dealers know that they can make more money with Hupmobile than with any other car. If you doubt this let us give you the facts.

Let us tell you what Hupmobile dealers in this territory do, and are doing, in a sales way.

Get on the Road to Bigger Success

Don't deceive yourself as to the true situation. The sooner your eyes are opened, the quicker you will be on the road to bigger success than you have ever known.

Priced so that it occupies a commanding position, Hupmobile is today outselling many other cars lower in price.

Hupmobile is doing this because it is a better car and a bigger value. The Hupmobile is actually a fine car in every way, at a low price.

More people are finding this out every day. Owners are spreading the good news. Naturally, this helps the Hupmobile dealer. Inevitably it creates a stronger demand for the Hupmobile.

Today the dealer can sell Hupmobiles with greater ease; he can sell more of them, then ever before.

And, we know, he can make a handsome net profit on the Hupmobile.

A Better Way to Larger Profits

You owe it to yourself to keep posted. Get the facts

Even if you don't get, or go in for, the Hupmobile contract, what you learn from us may show you the way to larger profits.

The men we want associated with us must be sound besiness men, with merchandising ability, and with reasonable bank credit. To such men we can assure a permanent, big paying business.

Why not let us hear from you? You can not lose. You may gain much from an interview. Write today.

RAILROAD SERVICE VITAL TO THE WORLD'S PROGRESS

The importance of American railroads to the health, wealth and happiness of every reader of this newspaper was clearly demonstrated during the period of government control, when the exigencies of war made necessary the cur-tailment of certain privileges and advantages to the traveling and shipping public.

Realization of this condition has happily changed the attitude of the public towards the railroads of America, and the increasing tendency towards fair-minded consideration of the railroads' problems has wrought mutual benefits with the promise of still greater co-operation in the future.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad, as the great highway of traffic and travel through the Ohio and Mississippi valleys and one of the strongest links in the American chain of railroads, renders both a sectional and general service of greatest importance.

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 17 .-Montgomery tendered a banquet to Governor Brandon and Lieutenant-Governor McDowell shortly after the inauguration, at which the new governor and his-co-worker were welcomed to the capitol city and were assured that Montgomery would take them into the fold and make them Montgomerians by adoption.

The dinner was started at three o'clock at the Exchange Hotel and continued until six o'clock, closing with response by Governor Brandon in which he was pleased that he could return to Montgomery, a city he learned to lave while he served as adjutant-general of the state's mili-tary forces from 1901 to 1907 and as state auditor from 1907 to 1911.

Governor Brandon said he contem-plated with much pleasure the next four years as a citizen of Montgomery even though those four years wil bring before him greatly increased responsibilities and duties as the state's chief executive officer.

All speakers predicted that the administration of Governor Brandon will be one of construction and concord since the two houses of the Legislature were elected on platforms similar to the one which carried Governor Branden into effice by the greatest majority ever given a ernor since the state established the direct primary system.

Former Governor B. B. Comer and Governor William D. Jelks also wer invited to take part in the dinner. but sent messages stating that they would not be able to be in Mont gomery at the time.

Winter never fails to bring this car renewed praise.

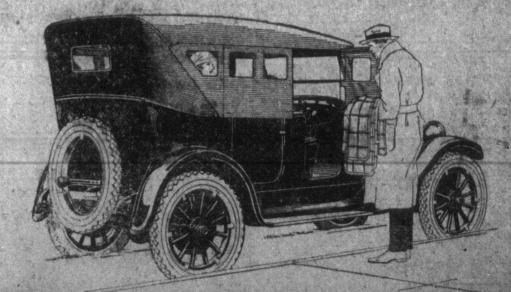

It is because the starting system and carburetor seem to be almost immune from cold weather troubles. The response is prompt, even on the coldest mornings.

The cord tires, with their safety tread, are also particularly desirable in winter. They not only act as a safeguard against skidding, but greatly reduce the possibility of having to change tires under disagreeable weather conditions.
